90% of all women have cellulite.

This will not be you.
You are amongst the lucky few who will pick up the phone, order Oligo.DX[®] cellulite reducing gel, and not become a statistic.

DS
LABORATORIES

Oligo.DX $39.95 POC.D126FT
If you think that topical creams are not an effective remedy for cellulite then you are absolutely right. Quite simply, Oligo.DX is the only cellulite reducing gel that works.

The secret is insuring the delivery of active substances down to the layer of the skin where cellulite actually forms. This will mean the difference between eliminating the unsightly dimples and nodules of cellulite or wasting your money on ineffective remedies that do nothing other than moisturize the skin. Oligo.DX is completely different from anything else you have used before regardless of how much it cost.

There are several substances that are clinically proven to burn fat and facilitate the drainage of trapped liquid, but once again, these substances cannot have any effect on cellulite unless they can reach the area deep beneath the skin where cellulite forms. DS Laboratories has been pioneering technologies that allow maximum absorption of substances into the skin. One of these technologies is nanosome encapsulation. Nanosomes are a breakthrough that allows us to encapsulate molecules like caffeine and L-carnitine and determine their degree and depth of absorption into the skin. This encapsulated payload will then be released when the nanosomes reach the area inside the skin where cellulite forms. This is night-and-day difference that allows Oligo.DX to have a dramatic impact on the appearance of cellulite.

Reduce and prevent cellulite. Call 888.644.9769 now.

Men's Fitness Magazine May 2008

The advertisement for Revita hair growth shampoo is set against a dark background. On the left is a white and red box, and on the right is a silver and red aerosol can. The Revita logo, featuring a crown above the word "REVITA", is positioned in the lower center. To the right of the logo, the text reads "HIGH PERFORMANCE HAIR GROWTH STIMULATING SHAMPOO". In the top right corner, the "DS LABORATORIES" logo is displayed, consisting of a red square with a white crown and the letter "D", and a grey square with the letter "S", with the word "LABORATORIES" underneath. Below the logo, the word "Performance." is written. At the bottom right, the "BARNEYS NEW YORK" logo is visible. A block of descriptive text is located in the lower right quadrant, detailing the product's research and ingredients.

Revita, the most efficient hair-growth-stimulating shampoo available in the market, is the final result of DS Laboratories' efforts on cutting-edge research. Revita is a powerful and unique combination of active ingredients specially designed to maintain scalp vitality and act on follicle dysfunctions in order to achieve best results in short periods of time.

Revita was developed with a cost-no-object approach. Revita's compounds have been chosen based exclusively on their properties, quality, and efficacy, as opposed to the majority of available products, which are usually developed with production costs in mind. The final result is a very high-quality shampoo product with absolutely no equivalent competitor in the market. Revita combines costly first-line compounds at high concentrations, like Caffeine at 4.0%, Pyrus Malus (Apple) Seed Extract at 1.0% and Spin Traps (SOD Mimic) at 0.1%, with other top-level ingredients that make Revita unique in its class.

Industry studies show that millions of men and women nationwide are affected by hair loss and thinning hair, the causes of which include genetic factors, stress, diet and medical issues. Fortunately, there are a number of products and services salons can offer their clients to address the problem.

"There's no cure for hair loss, but we can control it," says Daniel Khesin, CEO of DS Laboratories, which manufactures topical products that combat hair loss and conducts extensive clinical studies on the condition in-house. "What DS Laboratories does is that we essentially develop treatments that attack the problem from a very broad perspective."

DS Laboratories' Spectral DNC, for example, is formulated to combat various causes of hair loss and grow healthy hair on the entire scalp, including the frontal area. The key ingredient is high-grade Minoxidil, but additional hair regrowth agents including Aminexil, Adenosine and Retinol boost the product's effectiveness.

For salons, retailing at-home treatments like Spectral DNC that address hair loss can attract new clients and also increase revenue. "One of the advantages for the salon owners is that these products require continuous use," Khesin says. "A person who starts using the products will need to come back regularly to buy them, which has the effect of boosting foot traffic."

In addition to retail products that tackle hair loss, salons can also add special services that address the issue. Gavert Atelier in Beverly Hills, CA, for example, now offers the Nagomi Hair Spa Anti-Aging Hair and Scalp Treatment, which incorporates René Furterer Triphasic (for hereditary hair loss) or RF 80 (for reactionary hair loss), depending on individual hair needs. Intended to provide a relaxing experience for clients while restoring vitality to the hair and scalp, the treatment is provided in the salon's luxurious reclining Takara Belmont Yume chairs using a Balinese massage technique to open the follicle and increase blood flow to the hair root.

For a more immediate solution to hair loss, Virtual Reality and Virtuésse (a division of HairUWear) offer men and women nonsurgical permanent hair solutions that last up to four weeks. The process, which takes about an hour and is performed by trained salon professionals, involves the application onto the scalp of an invisible, nondegradable synthetic "layer of skin" called Dermalens, into which human hair that is compatible in appearance to the wearer's own hair is inserted. The results are remarkably natural looking, and clients can wash, condition and style their hair as usual.

"Topical and oral treatments work best in the beginning stages of hair loss, when we want to cut back or eliminate DHT deposits that strangle the hair bulb," says Lance Centofanti, innovator of Virtual Reality and Virtuésse. "In more advanced stages of hair loss, these options are not as effective. Virtual Reality and Virtuésse are the perfect solution."

These are just a few of the options available to salons for addressing clients with hair loss and thinning hair. Here are some additional solutions you can share with your clients. >< —Lotus Abrams
